

Privacy Statement

Torkel Research respects the privacy of individuals who visit our websites. This privacy policy pertains to www.torkelresearch.com and www.torkelinc.com.

Log Files

Like most standard Web Site servers, we use log files to collect statistical information about how our Web Sites are used. This information includes Internet Protocol (IP) addresses, browser type, Internet Service Provider (ISP), referring / exit pages, platform type, date/time stamp, and number of clicks. The information we collect is used to analyze trends, administer the websites, track user's movement in the aggregate, and gather broad demographic information for aggregate use. The data is not linked to personally identifiable information.

Cookies

A cookie is a piece of data stored on the user's computer tied to information about the user. Persistent cookies are not used. Torkel Research uses session cookies for session management only. No cookies will be stored on your computer. Session cookies are terminated when a user closes the browser.

Information Collected

The information we receive depends on what you do when visiting the site.

Viewer

An individual may view certain public pages of the website. No information other than that described in the "Log Files" section is collected.

Authorized User

Authorized individuals only may enter non-public pages of the website by entering password(s). These individuals enter information through visible means of data entry. For example, they may enter data into a form, respond to a survey, take an assessment, etc. The information they enter is collected as well as that described in the "Log Files" section.

Information Use and Disclosure

The data we collect is used in aggregate form to help improve the services that we offer. Information is not shared with third parties. The only exception is that individual, personally identifiable information may be shared with an organization for which Torkel Research and Consulting, Inc. is acting as an Application Service Provider (ASP). An example of this is assessment or survey information.

Legal Disclaimer

Though we make reasonable effort to preserve user privacy, we may need to disclose personal information when required by law where we have a good-faith belief that such action is necessary to comply with law, regulation, court order, or other legal process.
